Fr. Ben Daghir's Corner

Jesus says, "Let your yes mean yes, and your no mean no."

The word "decision" has Latin roots (decidere and caedere). The prefix de means "off" and caedere means "to cut." In other words, to make a decision is to "cut something off." We make a decision when we look at options (whether two options or more) and cut off the options we don't want. We do this all of the time.

Think about going through the McDonald's drive-thru. "I would like a #4 meal, please. Medium. Coke." At that moment, we cut (like scissors on paper) all the other meal options and sizes. When I chose to become a Roman Catholic priest, I cut off the other options (single man, monk, husband) in deciding. When someone chooses to marry an individual, he/she cuts off the billions of other men/women throughout the world in deciding to marry one specific person.

To be clear - making a decision demands that we cut the other options. Now, let's return to Christ in today's Gospel. Jesus is demanding that we make a decision, that we cut the other options like scissors going through paper. He is demanding that we live according to the Gospel, that we forgive, that we are completely committed to God, that we follow the commandments, and that we are faithful to the vows we have taken.

In other words, Jesus wants us to make decisions. He wants us, like scissors slicing through paper, to decide Him in every aspect of our lives and among all the options. And, like the leftover paper scraps that fall to the floor, our old ways of living, our bad habits, our sinful actions, etc. must be cut off. It's the demand of the Gospels. We must decide to have our "yes" be yes and our "no" be no.

Fr. Ben Daghir

Child Protection and Creating Safe Environments

Bystanders can help. Bystanders can play a big role in stopping bullying. When people do nothing, it sends a message that it's no big deal to bully. If people say something, it sends a social message that bullying is not OK. If you see someone being bullied, you can help by doing these things: Speak up to help: If it feels safe and natural to speak up, say, "come on, let's get out of here" to the person being bullied. It is okay to let the bully know people are watching and will get involved. Report it: Let a trusted adult know what you witnessed. This isn't tattling, it is standing up for what's right. Offer support: Check in with the person who was being bullied. Ask how they are doing. Remind them that the bullying is not their fault. For additional resources visit the Diocese of Erie website.
